Atlanta, GA September 2018—On September 11, 2018, Chad and his team from Edward Jones partnered with HeroBox to send 320 customized care packages to Deployed Service Members in the month of September. The event took place in LaSalle, Illinois, where they collected donations from all around their community.

In the beginning they started off with only 220 boxes but as time progressed they were able to fill 100 more boxes. Sponsor Chad Gilbreth stated "Originally, filling an entire semi with items to send overseas to our deployed service members started as a joke. It soon became a reality. As a community, we had around 50 businesses get involved and donate over 48,000 individual items. Countless citizens walked up on the day of our event to donate items as well. We were able to raise funds to send 320 boxes of items to 3 different units that are currently deployed. It was a very special thing to be a part of, and we look forward to doing it again in the future".

Their commitment to making a difference and giving back to the men and women who serve our country is remarkable to say the least. HeroBox as an organization is extremely grateful for the opportunity to work with Chad and his team and to be able to continuously support our service members this way.

Herobox is a nonprofit organization with a mission to provide the physical and moral support our heroes need while they are away from home. We are able to achieve this mission through programs that are designed to engage America's greatest resource—the people.
